Breakdown Prepared for Vinson & Elkins, Mr. Ajeet Pai, Att: Yvonne Shumaker

General Information / Video Services Provided:

The fee structure for professional videotaping of oral depositions, statements, etc. is by the hour. The First Hour includes travel and arrival at the site one hour prior to the scheduled start time of the event. Early arrival ensures the Videographer has the time necessary to set up the video equipment, run tests, and trouble-shoot potential video or equipment problems that could arise. Billing includes travel, early arrival for onsite testing, and teardown at the conclusion of the deposition.

All video is recorded with 3-chip, industrial quality cameras. Our cameras provide, true-color, crisp high-quality video and do not require additional lighting. Professional backdrops are used.

For safety purposes, all video is simultaneously double-recorded: (1) to a VTR on digital videotape -or- to an authored DVD and (2) to a computer which digitizes the video signal in real-time, allowing the immediate burning of the digitized video to CD's, DVD's, when necessary, etc.

All video depositions are recorded using time and date generators. The videographer synchronizes the camera time with the time-stamping of the court reporter, thereby allowing certain points of video to be located quickly and easily, simply by looking in the left margin of the court reporter's transcript and locating the time.

Continental's videographers have specialized training in order to provide the highest quality video in the industry. Having received Radio / TV / Communications degrees or technical training that applies to this industry, each new advance in video technology gives our videographers the ability to better serve our clients.
